Q & A

Elizabeth McGovern

The Downton Abbey actress, 53, dishes on her band (she sings!) and what to expect during season 5.

Who knew you were a singer in a folk band?
I've had a band for years, but we're just now gaining momentum. Downton has opened the door for me to have a place in music.

Do people always stop you to ask what's going to happen on the show?
No, but maybe that's because I live in Britain and people are more reserved here.

So . . . what is going to happen?
It's a throwback to the original season, focusing on interweaving the upstairs and down. It's Downton at its best!

AUSSIE CHARM
Since Mel Gibson graced the first Sexiest Man Alive cover 29 years ago, Chris Hemsworth and Hugh Jackman have followed suit. Both grew up in Australia.

People
MEL GIBSON THE SEXIEST MAN ALIVE
Meredith Baxter Birney's family ties

Mel Gibson, 1985
A tradition begins.

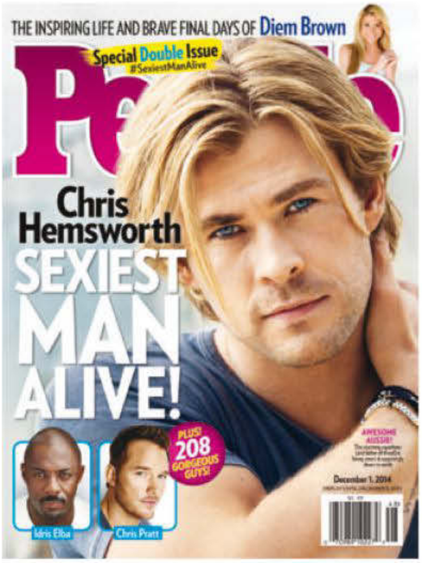
These four guys won twice!

Johnny Depp, 2003 & 2009

George Clooney, 1997 & 2006

Brad Pitt, 1995 & 2000

Richard Gere, 1993 & 1999



The Origin of (Sexiest) Man

It all began one afternoon around a layout table, in PEOPLE's Manhattan offices, in 1985. Various photos, for various reasons, were scattered around, and one happened to be of Mel Gibson, then in his late 20s and crazy good-looking. The photo editor at the time, Mary Dunn—an elegant southern spitfire who spoke her mind freely—walked in, pointed to a picture of Mel, and proclaimed, "He's the sexiest man alive!" A cover was born, and in the words of former assistant managing editor Hal Wingo, "out of that little acorn grew the mighty oak that is the Sexiest Man Alive franchise." I was in my junior year at Baylor in 1985, and I remember that cover well (my encyclopedic knowledge of PEOPLE stories from the mid-'80s explains my GPA). And when I took over the reins of PEOPLE last January, the most-asked question I got was, "Do you get to pick the Sexiest Man Alive?"

The answer is a qualified yes. The selection each year is preceded by a lot of debate and argument among the staff. And, of course, we survey our audience to see which sexy men are getting you worked up. This year, once we added Chris Hemsworth to the list of serious contenders, the votes were nearly unanimous. I could not be happier about it. In person Chris is a surprisingly friendly, polite, modest fellow. And while I'm usually scared of guys his size (he's seriously huge, especially for a movie star), he definitely seems more bodyguard than bully. It's nice to see a nice guy get the honor.

Executive Projects Director Liz Sporkin and her team have, as always, filled the issue with plenty of prime beef and awesome acts. Chris Pratt kicks off our Men of the Year gallery. Channing Tatum, Ben Affleck and others share their worst fears. There's a bunch of sexy men, like Andy Cohen, with their dogs. And Joel McHale and Terry Crews show they have "The Right Scruff." There's a lot more Sexiest Man Alive action on our tablet edition and on People.com, where you can see a video of Chris Hemsworth as he reads a phone book, a vacuum manual and the dictionary, thereby proving he can make anything sexy. You can find it all at people.com/sexiestmanalive. Have fun, and try to stay calm.

Matthew McConaughey shared 10 moments that changed his life.

‘He is a talented actor and a good human being’

B. Thompson via People.com

For November 17, 2014

Matthew McConaughey

I’ve always liked him as an actor, but now I really like him as a man, husband and father. His 10 moments were stellar and so real.
Donna Cavitte
Jefferson City, Mo.

I never liked Matthew McConaughey until he got married and matured into a caring person. He is still not my favorite actor, but I have gained more respect for him, the man.
Barbara Brewer via e-mail

Tim Cook

One’s sexual preference should never be an issue. Is someone a good person? That’s all that matters. Kudos to Tim for coming out!
Kristen Rejda via e-mail

Duggar Wedding

Jess Duggar looked absolutely stunning in her dress, while still remaining modest. I am so happy for her and Ben Seewald and wish them the best.
Victoria Moretz via e-mail

I am always disappointed when the Duggars are featured in the magazine as they do nothing to inspire me. What are they doing for the greater good?
Gillian Redfearn Austin, Texas

Brittany Maynard

Others may disagree, but I feel she made a very brave and difficult choice.
Pam Puckett Mukilteo, Wash.

For November 24, 2014

Brooke Shields

I find it amusing that we hold celebrities to a higher standard, and then when we find out that bad things happened to them, we are surprised or shocked. Things that Brooke Shields suffered are not right, but they happen to us “normal” people too.
Scarlett Zahn via Facebook

I had no idea what she had been through. Kudos to her for pulling through and still thanking her mom for making her life extraordinary!
Staci Alexander via Facebook

She’s a survivor! One of my favorite actresses.
Mayra Rocha via Facebook

I’ve always liked Brooke, and I’m looking forward to reading her book!
Kathy Luby via Facebook

Amber Vinson

When I first heard about her and her flight, I was angry that she would put people in danger. But then she gave us her story, and it made me think of her in a better way. I am grateful for all people who put themselves in harm’s way to provide the care that we may all need one day.
Dezi via People.com

Corrections In our Nov. 24 story on Brooke Shields, we mistakenly reported that her dog’s name is Darla; it’s actually Dunmore. In our Nov. 10 story on Sophia Loren, we misidentified the location in which the photo was taken. It was taken at Romanoff’s restaurant, not the Beverly Hills Hotel. People regrets the errors.

AMERICAN EXPRESS

The Amex EveryDay℠ Credit Card with no annual fee. Welcomed by McDonald's and many of your other favorite stores, the Amex EveryDay Card rewards you for the things you buy, every day. Make 20 or more purchases with your Card in a billing period and earn 20% more points on those purchases, less returns or credits. What's your 20?

A transaction where you buy multiple items counts as one purchase. Purchases do not include fees or interest charges, balance transfers, cash advances, purchases of travelers checks, purchases or reloading of prepaid cards, or purchases of other cash equivalents. Returns and credits do not reduce your purchase count. Returns and credits with a date in a billing period will reduce the number of points and extra points earned in that billing period. To count purchases for this benefit, we use the date of the purchase and not the posting date. Some merchants combine separate charges into a single transaction before submitting it to us. When this happens, the combined transaction will count as a single purchase for purposes of counting towards 20 separate purchases. A date of a purchase, return or credit may sometimes be different from the date you made the transaction. For example, if you buy goods online, the purchase date may be the date the goods are shipped. Purchase and balance transfer APR: variable 12.99%-21.99%. Cash advance APR: variable 25.24%. Penalty APR: variable 27.24%. Cash advance fee: greater of $5 or 3% of the transaction. Foreign transaction fee: 2.7% of the transaction after conversion to US dollars. Balance transfer fee: greater of $5 or 3% of the transaction. Late Payment Fee: Up to $37. Returned Payment Fees: Up to $37. ©2014 American Express Company. © 2014 McDonald's.

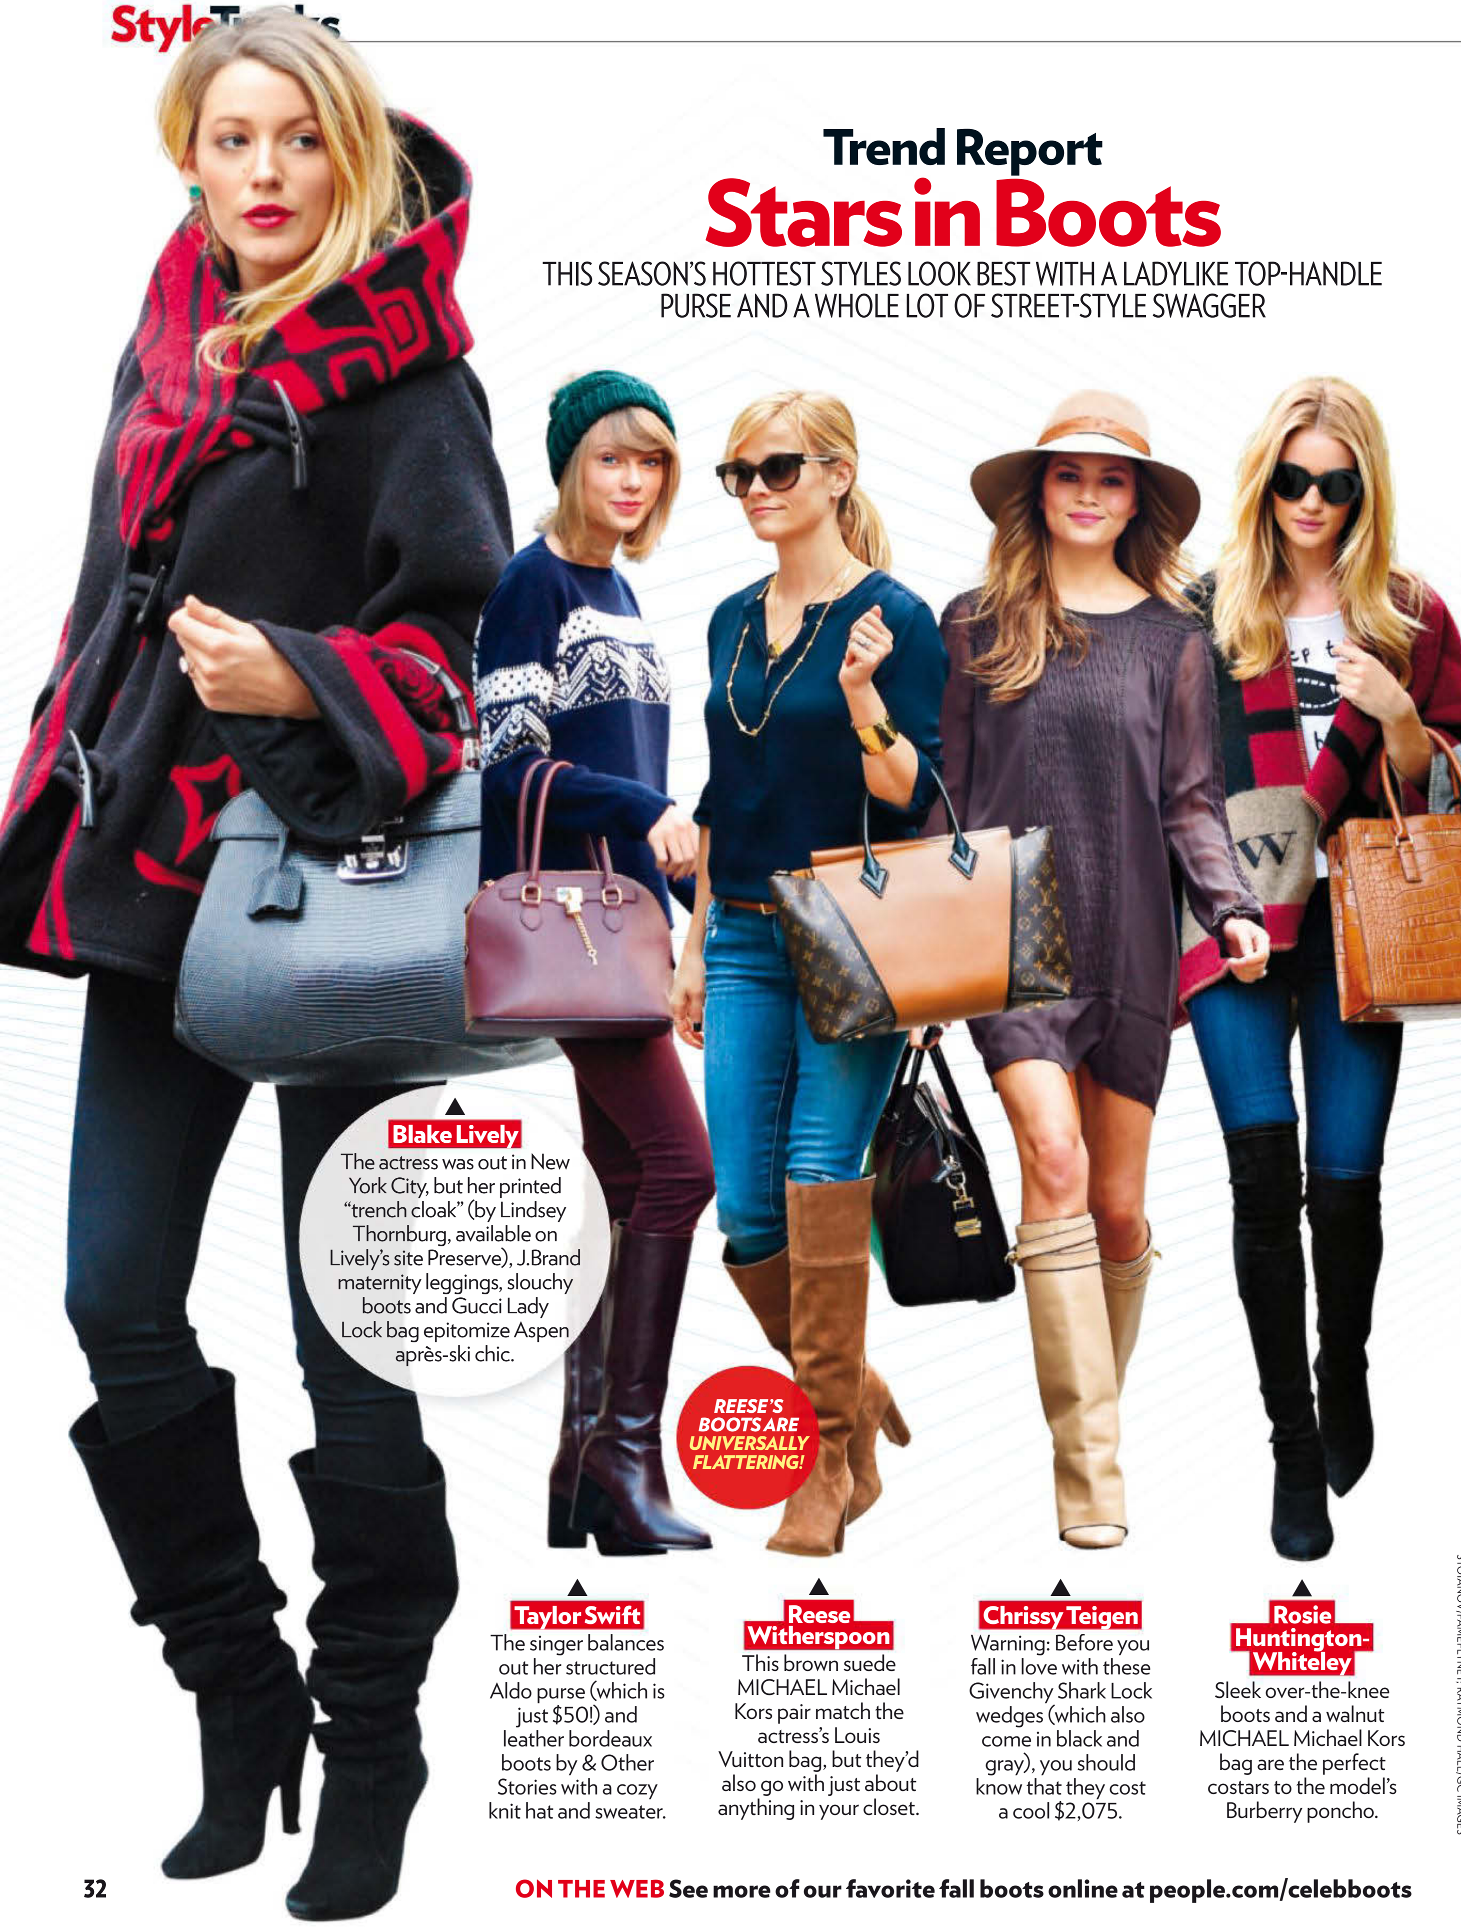
THIS SEASON'S HOTTEST STYLES LOOK BEST WITH A LADYLIKE TOP-HANDLE PURSE AND A WHOLE LOT OF STREET-STYLE SWAGGER



Blake Lively
The actress was out in New York City, but her printed "trench cloak" (by Lindsey Thornburg, available on Lively's site Preserve), J.Brand maternity leggings, slouchy boots and Gucci Lady Lock bag epitomize Aspen après-ski chic.

REESE'S BOOTS ARE UNIVERSALLY FLATTERING!

Taylor Swift
The singer balances out her structured Aldo purse (which is just $50!) and leather bordeaux boots by & Other Stories with a cozy knit hat and sweater.

Reese Witherspoon
This brown suede MICHAEL Michael Kors pair match the actress's Louis Vuitton bag, but they'd also go with just about anything in your closet.

Chrissy Teigen
Warning: Before you fall in love with these Givenchy Shark Lock wedges (which also come in black and gray), you should know that they cost a cool $2,075.

Rosie Huntington-Whiteley
Sleek over-the-knee boots and a walnut MICHAEL Michael Kors bag are the perfect costars to the model's Burberry poncho.

ROYALS UPDATE

KATE & WILLIAM
COMING TO AMERICA!

BY SIMON PERRY

AS SHE STEPPED FROM the royal car, her four-month bump barely visible under a black Diane von Furstenberg lace dress, Princess Kate beamed. She was clearly soaking up every minute of a date night that included the attentions of her prince and One Direction. The guest of honor at the Royal Variety Performance Nov. 13 in London "was laughing whenever you looked at the royal box," a fellow attendee said. And why shouldn't she be happy? The next day the Palace announced Kate was to join William on the couple's first visit to New York City—a three-day trip on Dec. 7. (The pair previously visited L.A. in 2011.) "It's huge," says Ingrid Seward, editor-in-chief of Majesty magazine. "Every young woman, even a princess, hasn't lived until she has been to New York. This is a real treat for her."

For a country girl from Bucklebury with a sharp eye for style, the shopping on Fifth Avenue and in SoHo should prove → irresistible. (Indeed the princess will bring along a personal assistant and a hairdresser.) But, a source close to the couple tells PEOPLE, Will and Kate's jam-packed schedule will leave little time for the usual tourist spots.

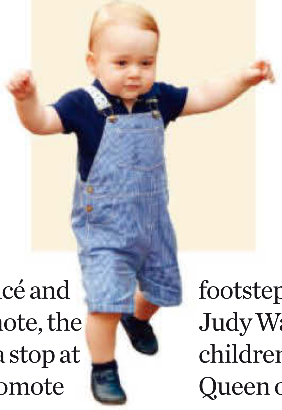
The impetus for the trip was an invitation to attend the 600th-anniversary gala of their alma mater, the University of St. Andrews in Scotland, to be held at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. That's not to say the entire sojourn will be filled with black-tie galas. The couple plan to attend a Brooklyn Nets game at the Barclays Center—watch for the Internet to literally explode if Will and Kate manage a photo op with America's royal couple (and courtside staples), Beyoncé and Jay Z. On a more serious note, the tour, which also includes a stop at the 9/11 memorial, will promote Will's campaign against illegal wildlife trafficking and Kate's work on behalf of young people with mental-health problems. "The two issues are incredibly close to their hearts," the Palace source says.

When Kate makes her grand entrance at the gala and when she meets with disadvantaged young people, there will be natural comparisons with Will's mom, Princess Diana. On her first solo trip to N.Y.C. in 1989, Di attended the opera in a stunning Victor Edelstein dress and famously hugged children with AIDS at Harlem Hospital.

Will Kate win America over as Diana did? "She's following in some very large footsteps," says royals author Judy Wade. "But that visit [with children] may make her the new Queen of Hearts."

Great news about Will and Kate, but how about George?

One person who'll miss the trip is Prince George, who will remain at home in the care of his nanny, Maria Borrallo, and his grandmother, Kate's mom, Carole Middleton. "A visit like this doesn't lend itself to taking Prince George," says a source. Kate, finally over the severe pregnancy sickness of her first trimester, will travel without a doctor, but medical help will—if needed—be provided through the British consul, the source said.



COLIN FARRELL FIGHTS FOR HIS BROTHER'S RIGHTS

In a new op-ed piece for Sunday World newspaper, Colin Farrell, 38, makes an impassioned plea for the legalization of same-sex marriage in his home country of Ireland. His inspiration? His older brother Eamon, 45. "Even when others were casting him out with fists and ridicule . . . he maintained an integrity and dignity," Farrell writes. He adds that the intolerance extends beyond schoolyard bullies. "The fact that my brother had to leave Ireland to have his dream of being married become real is insane," Farrell said of his brother's 2009 wedding in Canada. As for the country's upcoming vote on same-sex marriage next May, he sees it as "a chance to effect a change that's about recognizing no one love is greater than another."—MIA McNIECE

Farrell (inset and right with his brother Eamon in 2003) says "speaking out in support of equality in all its forms is a moral necessity."

MILEY CYRUS & PATRICK SCHWARZENEGGER

HEATING UP

Young love moves fast. "They started out as friends and then segued into more," an insider says of Miley Cyrus, 22, and Patrick Schwarzenegger, 21. The pop star and the son of Arnold Schwarzenegger and Maria Shriver "couldn't be more different," says another source, but Cyrus, who has been single since her Sept. 2013 split with Liam Hemsworth, is "giddy" over dating the University of Southern California undergrad. Since the pair were spotted on Halloween, they've been in dating overdrive, spending time with each other's families and indulging in PDA. While the insider adds that they aren't "too serious" yet, the source says, "It's new, but they are making plans, like a romantic trip together."

Fiancé Justin Theroux joined her at the N.Y.C. afterparty. "They're very happy," says a source.

THE GLAM STAR GRUNGED down—in sweatpants, a back brace and no makeup—to play an embittered woman suffering from chronic pain in Cake. Jennifer Aniston, 45, told PEOPLE she's "flattered" by Oscar-nomination buzz—even if she receives it, she joked, "awkwardly and stutteringly." The movie, opening wide in January, is "a wonderfully beautiful story of a woman living through an unthinkable trauma," she said at INSTYLE and the Cinema Society's N.Y.C. premiere Nov. 16. "It ticked all the boxes an actor dreams of." Says director Daniel Barnz: "Jen just let herself go raw in every way—she never wavered."

BRUCE JENNER Keeping Things Private

While the world continues to speculate over Bruce Jenner's ever-evolving appearance, one thing is certain: It won't be a plot line on the upcoming 10th season of E!'s Keeping Up with the Kardashians, which began filming in October. "His changing looks will not be a part of the show," an insider says. His physical transformations—and the reasons behind them—are things he "prefers to keep private," adds a production source. Indeed, since Jenner, 65, split from wife Kris Jenner in September, he's been retreating from the spotlight. Those close to him see that as a natural extension of his personality. "Bruce is really just a nice, normal dude," says Craig Potts, who raced with Jenner and Jenner's son Burt in the Baja 1000 on Nov. 13. Adds another source: "He just wants to chill out and play golf." —GILLIAN TELLING WITH PERNILLA CEDENHEIM & JENNIFER GARCIA

MARILYN MONROE'S STEAMY LOVE LETTERS

Marilyn Monroe basked in adulation. But was she truly loved? Judging from second husband Joe DiMaggio's heartfelt plea to get her back and third husband Arthur Miller's racy letters, she was adored and then some. "She craved love," says Martin Nolan of Julien's Auctions in Beverly Hills, which is putting the Lost Archive of Marilyn Monroe on the block Dec. 6. "But she had it."

Bill Cosby Under Fire...Again

The legendary comedian faces renewed outrage over claims that he drugged and sexually assaulted 14 women years ago

Pressure is building on Bill Cosby. First, comedian Hannibal Buress called him a "rapist" during an October gig, and then, on Nov. 13, actress Barbara Bowman—who claims she was assaulted by Cosby in 1985—published a damning op-ed in the Washington Post, noting, "The women victimized by Bill Cosby have been talking about his crimes for . . . a decade." She's referring to allegations from 14 women that surfaced in 2005 after Andrea Constand, then 32, went to police saying Cosby drugged and sexually assaulted her. No criminal charges were filed, and Constand settled a civil suit. In light of the new headlines, Cosby postponed an appearance on Queen Latifah, and an upcoming Letterman booking was canceled. Why is the scandal sticking around? "It's the fact that he won't apologize," Tamara Green, 66, one Cosby accuser, tells PEOPLE. On Nov. 16 Cosby's attorney released a statement saying the entertainer would not dignify "discredited" claims with a comment (then released another saying he wasn't referring to Constand).

ON THE MEND

Fox & Friends cohost Elisabeth Hasselbeck, 37, is back on the air after taking a month off to have a tumor removed. "I'm okay," she told viewers in an emotional segment on Nov. 14. "Everything came back okay. Surgery's not fun, but it is necessary to find out if you have something really terrible in you or not. And thankfully I had the blessing of it not being cancer."

SENTENCED

Paul Curry, 57, was sentenced on Nov. 14 to life in prison with no possibility of parole for murdering his wife, Linda, with a lethal dose of nicotine in June 1994 in order to collect over $500,000 from her life insurance policy. The former nuclear plant worker was a suspect in the case from the beginning, but police were unable to charge Curry until a new investigation was launched in 2007. "I begged her to leave him before it was too late," Linda's friend Merry Seabold told PEOPLE shortly after the jury delivered its verdict.

DEATH

The Big Bang Theory actress Carol Ann Susi died Nov. 11 after a battle with cancer. She was 62. Susi, who never appeared on-camera on the CBS comedy, nevertheless left her mark on the show as the voice of Mrs. Wolowitz. "Unseen by viewers, the Mrs. Wolowitz character became a bit of a mystery throughout the show's eight seasons," the series' producers said in a statement. "What was not a mystery, however, was Carol Ann's immense talent and comedic timing, which were on display during each unforgettable appearance."

PERSONAL STORIES ABOUT GIVING BACK

Sheryl Crow

The singer volunteers at food banks—and is hosting an auction—for Feeding America

Crow, 52, volunteering in Nashville.

When I moved to Nashville, my family and I started visiting the food bank. On our first trip, my son and I sat down next to a man. Someone gave him a pair of boots. My son Wyatt said, "Why did he give you boots?" And the man said, "Cause I didn't have any boots." And my son said, "Why don't you have any boots?" And he said, "Cause I can't get a job." And my son said, "Why can't you get a job?" And the man said, "Cause I don't have any boots." For three weeks my son talked about that experience, of not understanding that having food and a job for some people is a real luxury. So we stuff boxes, we serve meals. And this year I'm auctioning off clothes, boots, handbags—everything that's in my closet that no longer gets used is going to go on eBay's Charity Shop through Dec. 11, and the money goes toward Feeding America. I've been blessed in so many ways. This is our way of being grateful, to be a part of helping people get on their feet.

The Hunger Games: Mockingjay—Part 1

The celebrity survivor becomes a rebel leader in hiding, as Katniss embraces a bleak final act

MOVIE DRAMA It's a new game with bigger stakes—one Katniss (Jennifer Lawrence) has no interest in playing. Ditching the adrenaline of the Hunger Games arena, Mockingjay pivots to the battlefields of a revolution in progress, based underground in District 13, where President Coin (Julianne Moore) sees Katniss as the new face of the cause. But she's overcome with grief, obsessed with the tributes (including Josh Hutcherson's Peeta) left behind—and drowning in a guilty conscience that snaps into focus during a visit to her eviscerated hometown. Katniss confronts this carnage, channels her rage and eventually enlists with the rebels. This third outing is a pretty straightforward war epic, but it's electrified by the raw emotions of Lawrence's performance as a woman craving vengeance. (PG-13, Nov. 21)

Trisha Yearwood, PrizeFighter: Hit After Hit

The star brings plenty of sass on this mix of new and old songs

MUSIC COUNTRY Living up to its name (and the Rocky-inspired cover, complete with gloves courtesy of Sylvester Stallone), the album showcases the grit, finesse and talent that makes Yearwood a star. While she is strong out of the gate with "PrizeFighter" (featuring Kelly Clarkson), Yearwood shines extra-bright on the album's quieter tracks. "I Remember You"—one of the six new songs—is a heartbreaking ballad. Seemingly inspired by Yearwood's mom, Gwen, who passed away in 2011 from breast cancer, the song is a perfect marriage of emotion and a voice worthy of delivering it. (Nov. 17)

No. 5 The Sisterhood: Becoming Nuns

TV REALITY This sensitive new series is about five young women spending time in the company of Catholic nuns while they explore their religious vocations. (It's known as a period of discernment.) Their faith is generally and impressively strong, but the next steps will be full of obstacles. The unexpected dramatic high point of the premiere comes when one woman becomes upset that she's not allowed to wear makeup. (It's like a lost clip from The Hills: Spiritual Retreat.) It turns out she has a good reason for the outburst, but is her vocation true? We'll have to wait for heaven's mysterious ways to reveal themselves—and for future episodes. (Lifetime, Nov. 25, 10 p.m.)

ESSAYS In these fiercely intelligent personal essays, Daum (My Misspent Youth) explores the guilt that can follow "when we don't feel the way we're 'supposed to feel' about the events of our lives." Her mom's death, her own wish to remain childless, a disorienting game of charades she once played.... It's impossible not to wince, laugh—and relate.

Miriam Toews
All My Puny Sorrows

NOVEL Two sisters—one a sleek and celebrated pianist who wants to die, the other a perennial screwup trying to save her—carry on a fight neither can win in this affecting novel. Toews packs a powerful punch by staying neutral and bringing insight and even humor (dark but wise) to the agonizing topic of suicide.

Imogen Robertson
The Paris Winter

NOVEL Paris in 1910 is shimmering, seductive and dangerous for Maud Heighton, a penniless English art student. When Maud stumbles on the truth about the mysterious couple employing her as a companion, she and her bohemian friends become trapped in a life-threatening underworld. Robertson wears her historical research lightly, weaving adventures of the city's artists and aristocrats, jewel thieves and opium addicts into a charming, fast-paced thriller.

One Direction, Four

Even the naysayers will find this fourth record impossible to resist

MUSIC POP One Direction must have made a deal with the devil. There's no other way to explain how they've managed to put out four excellent albums in just three years—and the latest addition is the strongest of the bunch. Directioners will swoon at "18," an Ed Sheeran- and Oliver Frank-penned ballad about young love that is sure to be a prom staple. The feel-good "Ready to Run" will have you grinning by the first chorus. But it's the sweet and sad "Fool's Gold," the story of a doomed relationship, that's the standout. Stuart asks his tenant and best pal Jessica (the charming-hilarious Christine Woods) to pretend to be his girlfriend when his ex visits L.A. Not surprisingly, their night on the town sparks real emotions and complications, an utterly predictable but endearing send-off that might just entice new fans to check out the first season. (HBO, Nov. 22, 10 p.m.)

Diem Brown

A Fighter to the End

THE MTV STAR AND CANCER ACTIVIST HELD FAST TO HER DESIRE TO LIVE—EVEN IN HER FINAL DAYS

By MICHELLE TAUBER

Diem Brown never believed it was over. Not when doctors told her that cancer had spread everywhere in her body. Not when they advised that she had, at most, 30 days to live. Not even when they suspended all treatment and told her there were no further options. So unwavering was her certainty about the future that she was excitedly planning to celebrate her favorite holiday: Christmas. “Every year she made sure we had the most beautiful trees,” says her longtime friend and former roommate Alicia Quarles. “She couldn’t wait to light the tree this year.”

Sadly, she won’t have the chance. On Nov. 14 Brown died at age 34 in a New York City hospital, surrounded by family and friends. Two days later her loved ones gathered at her downtown Manhattan apartment to string lights, put up the tree and listen to Christmas music while sharing memories of the late star, who rose to fame on MTV’s reality competition The Challenge. “We tried to laugh and tell stories,” says her close friend Julie Rotondi. “When you’re crying remembering happy times, it’s a lot easier than crying remembering the hard times at the end.”

Brown experienced both in her too-short life, often in the span of a single moment. Irreverent and intensely defiant even in her final days, she found ways to inject humor into the darkest times. The night before she died, “our brother [Jarrod, 27] was telling a story about how in high school, they’d chased each other around the house trying to take pictures of the other looking ‘morning bad’ for blackmail,” recalls her sister Megan, 30. “At this point Diem had been sleeping for hours, so we were just telling stories around her. Then, without opening an eye, she said, ‘I never look bad!’ ”

Nor did she ever consider the idea that she might not beat the odds. “Dying” was not a word she ever spoke. She had no interest in creating a bucket list and refused to discuss terminal care. When she was finally moved to hospice one night before her death, her friends told her she had been “upgraded” to a nicer room because they knew how much she’d have loathed knowing otherwise. “Every day she spent in the hospital, she wanted to know when she was going to go home and what she needed to do to make that happen,” says Megan. Adds Quarles: “Death wasn’t an option. It was 95 percent determination and 5 percent denial. In her mind she wasn’t going to go.”

It was that single-mindedness that helped make her a breakout star during seven seasons of The Challenge, along with a bold candor that saw her once rip off her wig post-chemotherapy to compete in a swimming race. (She won.) “Diem was a fierce competitor who never wanted anyone to feel sorry for her,” says executive producer Jonathan Murray, adding that fans and castmates alike were charmed by “her spirit, her humanity and her tenacity. Diem soldiered on, no matter what life threw at her.”

‘I never heard Diem say she wanted to give up. She never faltered’

—MEGAN, BROWN’S SISTER

Life threw a lot. The oldest of four kids raised in Roswell, Ga., by Richard and Jillian (who died in 1999), “she always dreamed big,” says Megan. At 25, Brown’s world was turned upside down when she was diagnosed with ovarian cancer just before her debut season on The Challenge. Then, in 2012, she revealed the cancer had returned. Undergoing chemotherapy, she chronicled everything from her hair loss to her fertility issues on a candid blog for People.com. Along the way she found her voice as a cancer activist, sharing her journey and founding the patient-support registry MedGift. “Trying to find some sort of upside really helps,” she wrote in October 2012. Comparing her hair loss to “shedding like a Shih Tzu in the Sahara Desert,” she added, “If you are confined to your bed, an . . . upside can be: You can finally finish the Fifty Shades of Grey series while drifting off to images of Christian Grey’s ties dancing around your head.” Through it all, she never doubted she would put the disease behind her. “Her first two bouts of cancer were annoyances, in her mind,” says Megan.

The latest fight was different. She

Back off
PINK WARRIOR
POWER IN PINK

A Warrior Brown celebrated the Fourth of July this year, just after learning her cancer had returned again.

Her Reality Romance

After clicking on 2006's The Duel, Brown and Chris "CT" Tamburello, 34, had a rocky romance over several years. In September he posted an Instagram from her bedside. Although they weren't a couple when she died, "Diem had such a big heart that she had room to love a lot of people, and he was one of them," says her friend Alicia Quarles.

was poised to embark on another season of The Challenge in Panama in August, but soon after filming began she collapsed with crippling stomach pains and had to be airlifted to a New York City hospital. The devastating diagnosis: Cancer had been found in her stomach and colon. Doctors performed surgery to remove a tumor blocking her colon; three days later she underwent surgery again after complications from the first operation. She left the hospital with a colostomy bag, which she addressed in typically blunt style ("at first I would hide it with a sheet because it grossed me out"); an emergency hysterectomy put an end to her dream of experiencing pregnancy. Having previously gone to extraordinary lengths during her second bout with cancer to freeze her eggs, "I fought for it so much, and I wasn't allowed to have it," she said. Instead, she set her sights on pursuing motherhood via surrogacy. "I'm going to have a family and get married and the whole American, 2½ kids, white-picket-fence dream," she insisted in October.

And yet even as she remained focused on the future, her health continued to deteriorate. She struggled with what she described as "unending pain," spending hours in the bathtub and finding occasional relief in medical marijuana. As Brown's appetite plummeted, so did her weight. "I keep telling the doctor, 'If you take the pain away, I'll feel like myself again,'" she said.

> 'I want people to know that the fight is worth it. That's so important for me'
> —BROWN TO PEOPLE IN OCTOBER

Still, as her body weakened, she held fast to her belief in living "as hard and as vigorously as you can." She made plans to write a cancer survivors' manual, cheered on her beloved Florida State Seminoles and obsessed over details for redecorating her apartment. "Even when she was struggling so much, she wanted projects to work on," says Rotondi. She was especially eager to create an urban oasis on her patio where she could enjoy a taste of the outdoors. In the hospital on Nov. 12, "I showed her a planter she had ordered, and she was like, 'Now I just need those rocks to keep the soil warm in the winter.' There was never any indication that she was entertaining the idea of not being here."

A day earlier her doctors had told her that nothing more could be done. "They said something about acceptance, and she goes, 'Are you telling me just to sit here and die? I want to live,'" recalls Quarles. When the two prayed together on Nov. 13, "I was saying, 'Dear Lord, please let this pain leave Diem's body.' And she was like, 'What are you talking about? I'm not going anywhere. Pray for peace!'"

In her final hours, "we kept telling her, 'This is not giving up. You have fought enough,'" says Rotondi. They cranked up the music (including her favorite, Whitney Houston's "I Wanna Dance with Somebody") and exchanged remembrances. "It was like summer camp in her room," says Rotondi. When Megan arrived at her bedside on the morning of Nov. 14, "I said out loud, 'It's okay, baby, it's okay, go to Mom,'" she recalls, "and as the last syllable hit my lips, her last breath hit hers." Minutes later the hospital's fire alarm went off. "There were strobe lights, and it was so loud—like a dance club," says Rotondi. "Was she ever going to just say, 'All right, this is it, I'm ready'? Not a chance." ●

A DAY IN MY LIFE

THE SCANDAL ACTRESS, 37, SHARES—IN HER OWN WORDS—
HOW SHE SPENT HER WEDNESDAY, NOV. 12, 2014

6 a.m.
WORKOUT

I like to get up early and work out, and I love the Glow brand of juice. I'm a big Pilates girl. Lately I've also been trying to do the Oprah and Deepak 21-day meditation.

TIME FOR MY GLAM SQUAD…AND MY DOG

Today I got ready at home with my team. These two women [Takisha Drew, left, and Carola Gonzalez] and I have been friends for 10 years. They're family. We play lots of music and talk. It's fun. Then I grab my “shorkie” (shih tzu-Yorkie mix) Josie, who is spending the day with me, and we head out the door!

9:30 a.m.

It's surreal. I worked so hard with Scandal's costume designer Lyn Paolo on this. Meanwhile Josie will find the most expensive item in the studio, preferably cashmere, and then curl up and claim it as her own.

3 p.m.
SCANDAL MEETING

I had to leave to go to ABC studios for a meeting…it's top secret! During the photo shoot earlier, when Lyn and I would talk about the next episode, we'd have to go around the corner so no one would hear spoilers!

HIGH SCHOOL SUICIDES

TRAGEDY IN KANSAS

Heartbroken friends and family members search for answers after two beloved 16-year-old soccer teammates end their lives—just two days apart

Sports teams have returned to practice at Olathe Northwest High. Classes are in session, and the school play, The Wizard of Oz, is in rehearsal. "For the most part, everything is back to normal," says senior Shabriah Goines. But still, she says, many students "are having a really tough time. There is lots of crying in the lunchroom."

During a recent 48-hour period, this high school in an affluent Kansas suburb had to absorb two shocking tragedies: the suicides of juniors Ciara Webb and Cady Housh, both 16. "As far as we know, there is no connection between the two deaths," says Bryan Hill, public information officer at the Olathe Police Department. (In neighboring Lenexa, where Housh died, the police are "not investigating them as being connected," says PIO Dan Friesen.) Still, there are striking similarities between the unexpected losses of the two girls who used to play on the same soccer team. Webb, says her stepdad, Mike Gage, "loved making people laugh" and had been "talking about colleges." Housh, says Abby Conner, 16, who knew both girls, "had so many friends" and "always lightened you up." They "were so outgoing and gave it their all on and off the field. It shows you how a smile can hide so much."

Olathe Northwest provided counseling to students and staff.

Webb didn't go to school on Friday, Nov. 7, which was not unusual. She had endured five surgeries since a leg injury in freshman year, so she sometimes missed classes for doctors' appointments. "She was in severe pain that wouldn't go away," says Gage. In September she decided that because of the pain she would no longer be able to play soccer. She would also be unlikely to pass the physical to join the U.S. Naval Academy, where she hoped to train to be a Navy diver. "She was devastated."

Rather than heading back to school, she and Gage were supposed to take a day off. "We let her skip school sometimes, because she was a great student," says Gage. They planned lunch at a favorite steak house, a visit to the shooting range and a film. But after seeing the doctor, Webb asked if she could just stay in and watch The Vampire Diaries. "I said, 'That's okay,'" Gage says. Shortly afterward he went out. Later that day, Webb shot herself while she was home alone.

News spread fast. Amid a storm of tweeted condolences was one from Cady Housh, Webb's soccer teammate. She wrote: "Rest in peace Ciara."

The next day at a club soccer game, Housh "was upset about Ciara," says friend Samantha Vielhauer, who added that Housh's reaction didn't seem unusual: "We were all upset." At 12:10 on Sunday morning Housh tweeted, "Worst weekend of my f---ing life." Friends say she was often depressed, but in a way that felt familiar to them—problems with school, family, boyfriends. "It was typical teenage depression for me, but she really had it," says Conner. "She always refused to let us tell her parents. She would talk about taking her life, and at first I was scared. But after years of her saying it, I don't know, it just became part of a thing to look out for. She hated thinking about being depressed. She wanted to live her life to the fullest."

> 'Everyone is keeping each other strong and just remembering how amazing they were'
> —ABBY CONNER, FRIEND

Sunday night, according to Conner's account, Cady told her dad she was going for a walk. At around 8:15 p.m. she stepped onto the railroad tracks in front of a train.

Since then the community has gathered for two funerals. But there is so far little comfort for those asking, "Why these girls, why now?" Loved ones are casting about for answers. "We noticed the week before Halloween that [Ciara] seemed just a bit disconnected," recalls Gage. "More time in her room, watching TV more than normal. We talked to her, and she said, 'I want to get to the next chapter of my life. I want to get to college.'"

Meanwhile Housh "had been pulling away for the past few weeks," says friend Skye Tripp. But she had shown no drop in enthusiasm: "She loved soccer. Music, movies, everything."

And while authorities see the suicides as unlinked, some friends wonder if the first led to the second. Conner says Housh blamed herself for Webb's death. "She said if she had reached out to [Ciara] more, then it wouldn't have happened. She wasn't thinking rationally. She said, 'I wish I could have done something.'"

The question still lingers for many here. "No one thought that this would have happened, not once, but twice," says Housh's pal Mallory Reynolds. "People are reaching out to friends they haven't talked to in years. We will get through this."

HE HAS THE BODY OF A SUPERHERO AND THE HEART OF A NAPPY-CHANGING DAD. BEHOLD THIS GOD OF THUNDER FROM DOWN UNDER!

Photographs by
BEN WATTS

Chris Hemsworth kicks back at a ranch in Malibu on a gorgeous day, but he's missing his wife, Spanish actress Elsa Pataky, 38, and their 2-year-old daughter India and 8-month-old twin sons Sasha and Tristan, who are back home in Australia. "This was the first time I've been away from them for a while," he says. "I'm ready to get back. I'm sick of Chris!" Fortunately, he's the only one who is. Starring as a shipwrecked sailor in Ron Howard's In the Heart of the Sea in March and reprising his role as Thor in Avengers: Age of Ultron in May, Hemsworth, 31, is Hollywood's go-to choice for genetically perfect heroes. Yet as he told People's Antoinette Coulton and Julie Jordan, it's the role of dad that he savors most. Says Hemsworth: "Any moments I can just be with my family are perfect."

GETTING TO KNOW CHRIS

How did you react when you found out you were this year's Sexiest Man Alive? "I found it pretty funny. My wife did too. I think you've bought me a couple of weeks of bragging rights around the house. I can just say to her, 'Now, remember, this is what the people think, so I don't need to do the dishes anymore—I'm above that. I've made it now.'" [Laughs]

What will your brothers Liam and Luke think? "They will probably give me the hardest time. They'll give me some stick over it, I reckon. But that's all right; that's what brothers do."

Your mother taught English, and your dad was a social-services counselor in Melbourne who also worked on a cattle station in the Australian outback. What were you like growing up there? "I didn't love school. I didn't like having to sit still that long. I'm much more active

'I'M FINE WITH GETTING OLDER. IT ONLY BOTHERS ME WHEN THINGS START TO HURT A BIT MORE'

ALL ABOUT THAT BOD . . .

HEIGHT: 6′3½″

WEIGHT: 195 lbs.

BODY FAT PERCENTAGE: 8

EXERCISE & DIET:

"I'm lucky. Genetically I don't put on weight easily. I like running, surfing or boxing, and I did Muay Thai [a martial art of Thailand] for a long time. If I have a goal, I'm really good about what I eat—protein, veggies, clean food and restricted carbohydrates. Cheat days are pizza, hamburgers, beer, sugary things. Everything I'm not allowed to have!"

GROOMING:

"I'm sick of my hair. I have a hat on most of the time just so I don't have to deal with it. I don't like being clean-shaven, because my skin feels like it's going to break out in a rash, so I clipper it nice and short."

MUSCLE THERAPY:

"I love massages—hard Thai ones. I hate falling asleep during them. I want to know something is happening."

and physical. I wanted to surf and get outside and do things. I think I was very challenging: 'Why are we learning this? What's the point of this?' I used to get in a lot of trouble for it too."

When did you realize you were going to make it as an actor? "Rush [the 2013 biopic directed by Ron Howard in which he plays Formula 1 driver James Hunt]. That's when I first kind of felt taken seriously. It opened up so many more things. But that self-doubt of 'Am I ever going to work again?' is still always there. And that's a good thing. It keeps you hungry."

Your role in In the Heart of the Sea, in which you battle a whale, looks physically grueling. Do you always do your own stunts? "I try to, because it's fun. We spent two months on the water and two months in the studio with replicas of the ships. The cast had to get skinnier and skinnier until the end, where we were just emaciated."

Have you ever been injured while filming? "Just my back, from Thor, because the costume is so heavy. It basically has one point in it where you bend from, so it kind of loads up on one vertebra. I think it's just taken its toll over the years."

Is it hard getting your body into Thor shape? "No, it's strictly weight lifting and bodybuilding. When I'm not doing that character, I want to get lean again as quickly as possible, because carrying that weight is exhausting. And none of my clothes fit!"

What do you sleep in? "Not much. Usually nothing. Or boxer shorts. I'm definitely not a pajama person. It's too hot."

Do you have any habits that drive your wife crazy? "I have trouble concentrating. I'll be into the conversation, and then all of a sudden there will be something over here that I'm thinking about. She's like, 'Chris, are you even listening?' And I'm like, 'Yeah, yeah, yeah. I just didn't hear that last bit because you're Spanish. Your English isn't real good.' Which drives her crazy because her English is perfect."

HIS FIRST TIME . . .

FIRST KISS
"Jade White, when I was in primary school. I was 7 or 8 years old."

FIRST GIRLFRIEND
"Jade White. The kiss led into a relationship. All of like a week, I think. I am not sure she knew she was in a relationship, but I was pretty convinced we were destined to be together, and I was wrong."

FIRST PERSON TO CALL HIM SEXY
"My drama teacher. [Laughs] That's kind of creepy, isn't it? She did, though."

FIRST BIG ACTING GIG
Playing personal trainer and lifeguard Kim Hyde on Home and Away, an Australian soap opera. "I was trying to prove I was an actor, and I was angsty and just didn't enjoy it. Looking back, I just want to slap that kid: 'Dude, you're 18, you're on a TV show, earning good money, you're living on the beach.' That should have been the time of my life."

FIRST TIME HE KNEW HE WAS FAMOUS
"When I started getting fan mail, and someone sent me a used shirt. It was kind of strange, and I thought, 'Wow, this is it. This is what fame is about.' "

DAUGHTER INDIA'S FIRST WORD
"I think it was 'Papa.' My wife will say it was 'Mum,' I'm sure."

Will your kids be bilingual? "Yes, definitely. My daughter speaks a mash-up of English and Spanish. When I want to hold her, she'll say, 'No, solo!,' which is Spanish for 'my own' or 'alone.' It's Spanglish from her."

Do your twin sons look alike? "They're not identical. One is, like, blond and blue-eyed, and the other one's dark, like, 'That's yours, this is mine.' But God, there are just so many nappies! [Laughs] It can be chaotic, especially when we're traveling. But they're good kids. We're lucky."

What has been your biggest dad emergency? "Bath time. I've done it by myself a few times. My wife will read this and say, 'No, you haven't,' but there have been a couple of times! Or when you're trying to change all of them. That time is just manic—they're hungry, they're tired, they do want a bath, they don't want a bath. That's when all hell breaks loose."

Any memorable "aha" moments? "Definitely. Being a dad, you grow up really quick. You become incredibly more responsible, and the kid inside you comes back. I just love rolling around on the floor with India and playing games with her."

Does she have you wrapped around her finger? "Oh, yeah. Both of us. We'll say, 'Okay, that's it. No more ice cream.' And she's like, 'Gelato? Ice cream?' And she pretends to lick an ice cream, and I'm like, 'Oh, she's just too cute.' Then she goes crazy because of the sugar, so it backfires."

What do you drive? "We have a big Volkswagen family van. Very sexy. [Laughs] But I love it because it's so practical. That's the thing: With kids you become practical, don't you?"

'MARRIAGE GOT ME OFF THE STREETS. I JUST FOUND MY BEST FRIEND SOONER RATHER THAN LATER'

Do you have any tattoos? "I have the initials of my family here. [Points to his right forearm] And I have a Dr. Seuss character from Oh, the Places You'll Go right here. [Touches his left biceps] It's a book I read to my daughter."

Will you get any more? "Maybe. They're a pain to cover up when you shoot a movie. It's, like, an hour of makeup."

What's your biggest fear? "Those moments for anyone with kids where you're like, 'Where is she? What is she doing?' India has learned how to open doors and does this thing where she'll just walk off. We've got a big property in Australia. You're like, 'India! India!' And she's tiny. It's not like you're going to see her. There have been a couple of freak-outs."

What's your favorite time of day? "Dusk. There's something sort of melancholy and moody about it. Nostalgic. I always feel like that time of day makes me think about when I was younger."

Are you recognized more in Australia than in the U.S.? "Probably, because there's a connection, like, 'Yeah, you're ours!'"

What does your perfect day entail? "Not working. We just had a big beach day with the kids, swimming and kicking the ball around. That was the first time in a long time we've sort of done that. That's what it's all about."

FAMILY VALUES

THE HEMSWORTH BROTHERS
The Hunger Games star Liam, 24, and Luke, 33 (center), who is also an actor, "have always had a friendly competition. But we're very proud of each other," Liam told People. "It's a good thing. It just pushes you to be that much better." Liam also thanks Chris for "guiding me in the right direction."

SORRY, LADIES, HE'S MARRIED!
Hemsworth and the Madrid-born Fast & Furious 6 actress Pataky met through friends in 2010 and wed that December. "You just want to hang out with that person," he says. "Obviously she's beautiful. She makes me laugh, and we have fun." But he doesn't consider himself romantic. "We decided to get married before I proposed," he says. "I'm pretty bad at that stuff."

DAX SHEPARD with LOLA

AGE: 39
Latest Project: NBC's Parenthood
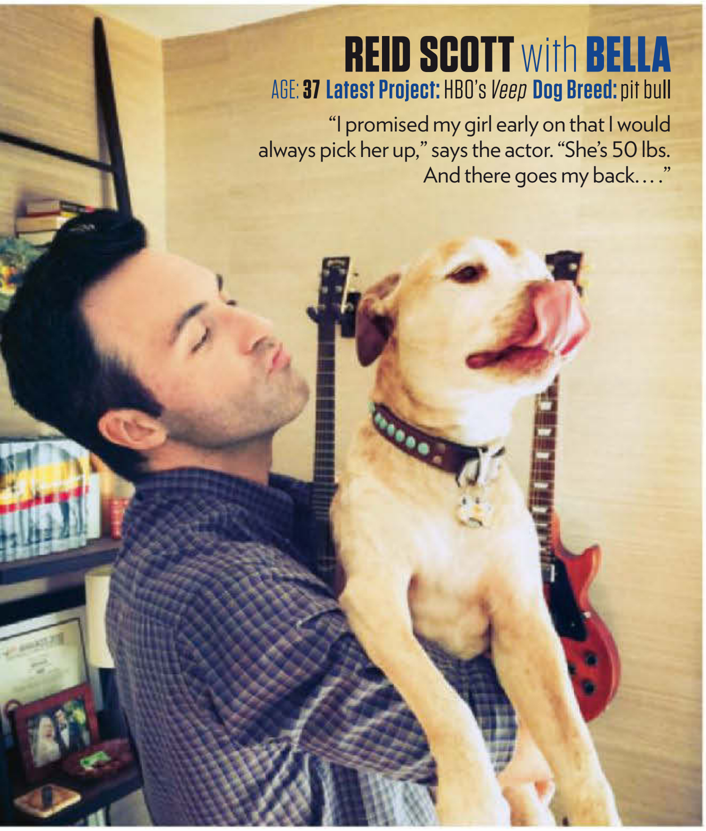
Dog Breed: mutt chow chow

"Lions are sexy," says the actor, whose wife, actress Kristen Bell, 34, took this shot. "Being able to tame a lion is the apex of sexiness."



REID SCOTT with BELLA

AGE: 37 Latest Project: HBO's Veep Dog Breed: pit bull

"I promised my girl early on that I would always pick her up," says the actor. "She's 50 lbs. And there goes my back. . . ."

SHAUN WHITE with STEVE

AGE: 28
Latest Project: air+style snowboarding event
Dog Breed: French bulldog

"No matter how long I have been gone, a couple of hours or a week, Steve is always happy to see me when I get home," says the two-time Olympic gold medalist.

CHRIS 'LUDACRIS' BRIDGES with CASTOR

AGE: 37 Latest Project: his upcoming album ludaversal Dog Breed: Belgian Malinois

"He is intelligent, very active and stubborn," says the Furious 7 star. "Just like me."

ACTORS, SINGERS AND A CERTAIN GALAXY GUARDIAN—THESE GUYS MADE A SERIOUS SPLASH IN 2014

CHRIS PRATT, 35
The Parks and Recreation star burst onto the A-list thanks to Guardians of the Galaxy (and his newly sleek physique). "This is definitely an exciting chapter," he told PEOPLE. "But for me, the minute I stopped being a waiter and started being an actor was when I started living my dream."

JEFF LIPSKY/CPI SYNDICATION

EDDIE REDMAYNE, 32
Three facts about the actor, who plays British physicist Stephen Hawking in The Theory of Everything:

1. He's color-blind.
2. He hates eggs.
3. His favorite time of day is when his fiancée, Hannah Bagshawe, comes home from work. "I quite like making her dinner."

Property BROTHERS

JONATHAN & DREW SCOTT, 36

Even die-hard fans of the HGTV twins can't tell them apart: "I'll get marriage proposals on Twitter," says Jonathan (left). "Then they're like, 'Or I'll take Drew, whatever.' "

BILLY MAGNUSSEN, 29

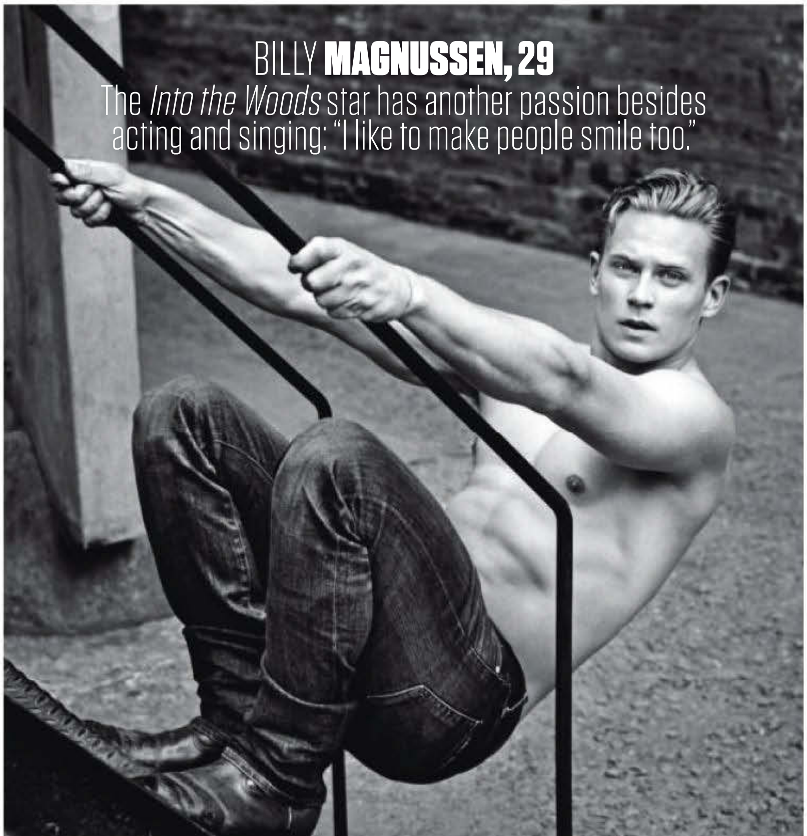
The Into the Woods star has another passion besides acting and singing: "I like to make people smile too."



CLOCKWISE FROM TOP: ERIC RAY DAVIDSON; MARC HOM/TRUNK ARCHIVE; GABRIELA HASBUN

Charlie HUNNAM, 34

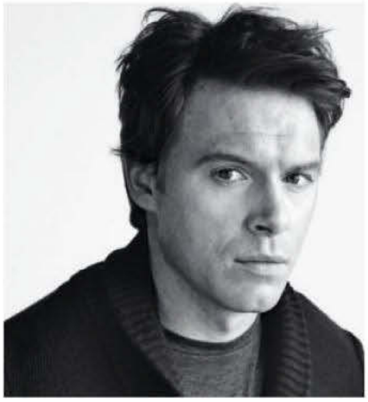
The Sons of Anarchy star has always been a rebel—he even rocked a grunge look growing up in the U.K. "I looked like Kurt Cobain, but way less cool, and in a school uniform."

ALFRED ENOCH, 25

"I look very young," says the How to Get Away with Murder star. "As a kid, everyone was so much taller than me; I used to make sure I stood up really straight. I didn't grow until I was 16."

JOHN CHO, 42

The actor digs his wife, Kerri Higuchi, so much, he'd like to marry her again in front of their son, 6, and daughter, 1. "It just seems like an important event! I want to show them, and everyone, that we love each other."



DIEGO KLATTENHOFF, 35

Fans of Homeland and The Blacklist—and apparently the Today show—often approach him. "People confuse me and Willie Geist all the time," says the 6-ft. actor. "And that dude is like 6′5″!"

Kit HARINGTON, 27

His Game of Thrones character may "know nothing," but the actor himself has plenty of talents. "I like making quintessential British food, and I make a damn good Bolognese," he says. "I also read a lot. I'm obsessed with books about space."

PATRIK GIARDINO/CORBIS OUTLINE

TEDDY SEARS, 37

Playing a cheating doctor on Masters of Sex "is interesting because I'm happily married," says Sears, who wed actress Milissa Skoro last year. "I get to play around in an area that I won't in my life."

Matt
BOMER, 37

He's not afraid to show off his stripper moves in Magic Mike XXL, but the actor is old-school when it comes to his personal seduction techniques. "I've definitely left some trails of flower petals before, but mostly I like to write songs and sing them to the people I love."

MATT CZUCHRY, 37

The Good Wife star says he's given no notice before his shirtless scenes. "Luckily I've played sports my whole life, and I'm conscious of diet and exercise," he adds. "I get the script and I jump right in."

KI HONG LEE, 28

The Maze Runner star knows exactly what he's looking for in a partner: "If a person has a kind and loving heart, that's where it's at. I feel like everything else falls in line after that."

Scott
FOLEY, 42

The actor says his wife, Marika Dominczyk, is supportive of his Scandal sex scenes—to a point. "I'll get home, and she's like, 'Don't kiss me now. Maybe later.' "

MICHAEL B. JORDAN, 27

"If I could have a superpower, it'd be to teleport," says the Fantastic Four star. "To immediately be in Fiji would be amazing."

TIM TEBOW, 27

"I want a girl who's trying to make a difference in the lives of others," says the football star turned Good Morning America contributor. "That's what's sexy."

SETH MEYERS, 40

What does the Late Night host wear when he finally gets to sleep? "Boxers," he says. "And an old Batman cape. It's tattered. But it gives me both the confidence and safety to get a good night's sleep."

MICHAEL STRAHAN, 43

He didn't learn any new dance moves, but the Live! With Kelly and Michael cohost did follow one rule while filming Magic Mike XXL: "Make sure that there is no hair on your body. Wax it, shave it, whatever. You've got to be as smooth as a baby's butt."

DAVID MUIR, 41

His idea of a perfect evening? "A night out at a hidden New York City restaurant with great friends," says ABC's World News Tonight anchor. "It's the perfect antidote to the heaviness of my job."

Wes BENTLEY, 36

"I do like scary stuff," says the American Horror Story: Freak Show star. "It's an adrenaline rush. It's everything you don't see. That's what scares me."

DRAKE, 28
"Wowwwwwwwwwwww! How far we've come," the Canadian-born Drake posted online about a similar photo.

ANSEL ELGORT, 20
The actor described his Fault in Our Stars character as "quirky, weird and nerdy. That's kind of how I am in real life."

RYAN SEACREST, 39
"I remember being chubby," he said. "Sometimes I feel like I see that kid in the mirror, so I'm hyper-obsessed with exercise."

JIMMY KIMMEL, 47
"Based on this yearbook photo, it's almost impossible to believe, but I did not have a girlfriend in high school."

JOE MANGANIELLO, 37
"I felt like a weirdo in high school. Then I got my braces off, I got a new haircut, I was working out. Girls started noticing."

CHRIS MARTIN, 37
"Even though some of the things I do can come across nerdy or unprofessional," he said, "it's at least true to me."

ADAM LAMBERT, 32
"In middle school I felt like an outsider. I didn't have a lot of friends. I had confidence issues, big time."

ZAC EFRON, 27
"I was into musical theater and stuff," he said of his school days. "I didn't really get that much attention."

LOUIS C.K., 47
"I was a nerd growing up," the comedian confessed to CNN, "and I'm a little antisocial and awkward."

SEXIEST ARTIST | Javier Gomez, 34

Abstract photographer who has had exhibitions in Paris, Tokyo and Monaco. Born in Panama and based in New York City, Gomez sees sexiness all around us. In fact, one recent project was called "Sensual Nature," a collection of plants and flowers photographed "to show their femininity. They're very sensual." Gomez also isn't afraid of going au naturel. "I really like to be naked. I sleep naked, I cook naked, I'm always naked," the (single!) artist says. "I never have roommates for that reason."

SEXIEST WRITER

Terrance Hayes, 43

Poet; winner of a 2014 MacArthur Foundation Genius Grant. "I started writing poetry to try and get girls when I was in middle school," says the author. But Hayes, who's also a professor at the University of Pittsburgh, had to find another way to woo his wife, Yona Harvey. "She's a writer as well, so it's a pretty high standard." And the sexiest word, in his expert opinion? "'You' is good—addressing someone is pretty sexy."

SEXIEST CHEF | Marc Murphy, 45

Judge on Food Network's Chopped. The owner of four restaurants, Murphy has made many meals in his career. But what's the sexiest entrée he's ever prepared? "I made the perfect roast chicken for my wife Pamela's mother, and she absolutely loved it," says the Manhattan-based chef. "I think that sealed the deal for me with the parents, which then turned into sexy, so to speak."

FIGHT IT
WITH JUBLIA
JUBLIA®
Individual results may vary
Rx Only
JUBLIA®
(efinaconazole)
Topical Solution, 10%
For Topical Use Only
4 mL

Ask your doctor if JUBLIA is right for you and visit JubliaRx.com

Introducing JUBLIA — a NEW FDA-approved prescription topical solution proven to treat toenail fungus (onychomycosis).

JUBLIA is specifically formulated to reach the site of onychomycosis and fight the fungus that can live beneath the toenail — allowing some patients to have clearer toenails grow back. It's time to take the fight to toenail fungus.

Indication

JUBLIA (efinaconazole) Topical Solution, 10% is a prescription medicine used to treat fungal infections of the toenails.

Important Safety Information

- JUBLIA is for use on nails and surrounding skin only. Do not use JUBLIA in your mouth, eyes, or vagina. Use it exactly as instructed by your doctor.
- It is not known whether JUBLIA is effective in children.
- Before you use JUBLIA, tell your doctor about all your medical conditions, including if you are or plan to become pregnant, are breastfeeding, or plan to breastfeed, because it is not known whether JUBLIA can harm an unborn fetus or nursing infant. Tell your doctor about all medications you are taking, and whether you have any other nail infections.
- JUBLIA is flammable. Avoid heat and flame while applying JUBLIA to your toenail.
- Avoid pedicures, use of nail polish, or cosmetic nail products while using JUBLIA.
- JUBLIA may cause irritation at the treated site. The most common side effects include: ingrown toenail, redness, itching, swelling, burning or stinging, blisters, and pain. Tell your doctor about any side effects that bother you or do not go away.

You are encouraged to report negative side effects of prescription drugs to the FDA. Visit www.fda.gov/medwatch or call 1-800-FDA-1088.

Please see Patient Information for JUBLIA on next page.

PATIENT INFORMATION

JUBLIA (joo-blee-uh)

(efinaconazole) Topical Solution, 10%

This Patient Information does not include all the information needed to use JUBLIA safely and effectively. Please see full Prescribing Information.

Important information: JUBLIA is for use on toenails and surrounding skin only. Do not use JUBLIA in your mouth, eyes, or vagina.

What is JUBLIA?

JUBLIA is a prescription medicine used to treat fungal infections of the toenails. It is not known if JUBLIA is safe and effective in children.

What should I tell my healthcare provider before using JUBLIA?

Before you use JUBLIA, tell your healthcare provider about all your medical conditions, including if you:

- are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. It is not known if JUBLIA can harm your unborn baby.
- are breastfeeding or plan to breastfeed. It is not known if JUBLIA passes into your breast milk.

Tell your healthcare provider about all the medicines you take, including prescription and over-the-counter medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements.

How should I use JUBLIA?

See the "Instructions for Use" at the end of this Patient Information leaflet for detailed information about the right way to use JUBLIA.

- Use JUBLIA exactly as your healthcare provider tells you to use it. Apply JUBLIA to your affected toenails 1 time each day. Wait for at least 10 minutes after showering, bathing or washing before applying JUBLIA. JUBLIA is used for 48 weeks.

What should I avoid while using JUBLIA?

- JUBLIA is flammable. Avoid heat and flame while applying JUBLIA to your toenail.
- Avoid pedicures, use of nail polish, or cosmetic nail products, while using JUBLIA.

What are the possible side effects of JUBLIA?

JUBLIA may cause irritation at the treated site. The most common side effects include: ingrown toenail, redness, itching, swelling, burning or stinging, blisters, and pain. Tell your healthcare provider if you have any side effects that bother you or that does not go away.

These are not all the possible side effects of JUBLIA.

Call your doctor for medical advice about side effects. You may report side effects to the FDA at 1-800-FDA-1088.

How should I store JUBLIA?

- Store JUBLIA at room temperature, between 68°F to 77°F (20°C to 25°C). Do not freeze JUBLIA.
- Keep the bottle tightly closed and store in an upright position.
- JUBLIA is flammable. Keep away from heat and flame.

Keep JUBLIA and all medicines out of the reach of children.

General information about the safe and effective use of JUBLIA

Medicines are sometimes prescribed for purposes other than those listed in a Patient Information leaflet. You can ask your pharmacist or healthcare provider for information about JUBLIA that is written for health professionals. Do not use JUBLIA for a condition for which it was not prescribed. Do not give JUBLIA to other people, even if they have the same condition you have. It may harm them.

What are the ingredients in JUBLIA?

SEXIEST BEAST CHARMER || Evan Antin, 29

Exotic-animal vet at California's Conejo Valley Veterinary Hospital.

The animal expert has traveled the world wrestling crocodiles, wrangling cobras and staring down a bull hippo. Now he's settled down in Thousand Oaks, Calif., where he's developed a soft spot for cuddlier creatures. "I like working with baby raccoons—they're really fun and cute."

SEXIEST TEACHER

Nicholas Ferroni, 35

Education-reform activist named one of the 100 most influential people in America.

While the Union, N.J., high school history teacher finds time to advocate for public education reform and mentor underprivileged youth, his dating life has taken a backseat. "I date great girls, and they fall in love with me because I'm so passionate about what I do. But then they break up with me for what I do," he says. "I'm so committed to my students that I can't give as much time as they would like."

LEGAL NOTICE

IF YOU PURCHASED A WELLESSE JOINT MOVEMENT GLUCOSAMINE PRODUCT YOU MAY BE ENTITLED TO RECEIVE UP TO $15.00 TO $18.00 FOR EACH PRODUCT YOU PURCHASED, NOT TO EXCEEED $100.00.

The United States District Court for the Southern District of California authorized this notice. This is not a solicitation from a lawyer.

Para una notification en Espanol, visite nuestro sitio web, www.WELLESSEJMGSETTLEMENT.com

WHAT IS THIS SETTLEMENT ABOUT? Plaintiff claims that Defendants, Botanical Laboratories, Inc., Schwabe North America, Inc., and Botanical Laboratories, LLC's ("Defendants"), Wellesse Joint Movement Glucosamine did not provide certain health benefits as advertised, including joint health benefits, mobility, flexibility, and lubrication. Defendants strongly deny the allegations made in the lawsuit. The Court has not decided who is right and who is wrong. Instead, the parties decided to settle the dispute. WHAT DOES THE SETTLEMENT PROVIDE? Each Settlement Class Member who submits a valid claim form may be entitled to receive cash payment of up to $15.00 to $18.00 for each bottle of Wellesse Joint Movement Glucosamine purchased prior to October 8, 2014, not to exceed one hundred dollars ($100) in total recovery. Defendants will make payments of $3.1 million into a Settlement Fund to reimburse Settlement Class Members for the Wellesse Joint Movement Glucosamine they purchased, to pay for costs and expenses of settlement administration not to exceed $580,000.00, an award of attorneys' fees not to exceed $930,000.00, and a service award to the Class Representatives, not to exceed $3,500.00. In the event that the dollar amount of approved claims submitted by Settlement Class Members exceeds the amount remaining in the Settlement Fund after payment of costs and expenses of settlement administration, the Court's award of attorneys' fees, and a service award to the Class Representatives, payments on approved Claims to Settlement Class Members shall be reduced pro rata. In the event that the dollar amount of approved claims submitted by Settlement Class Members does not meet or exceed the amount remaining in the Settlement Fund after payment of costs and expenses of settlement administration, the Court's award of attorneys' fees, and a service award to the Class Representatives as well as the tallied amount of all Authorized Claims, the Settlement Administrator shall divide the remaining cash amount equally by the number of Authorized Claimants and shall pay each such Authorized Claimant his or her share of the remaining cash amount. AM I A CLASS MEMBER? You're a Class Member if you purchased a Wellesse Joint Movement Glucosamine product anywhere in the nation at any time prior to October 8, 2014. WHAT ARE MY LEGAL OPTIONS? To ask for cash and remain in the Class, you must mail, fax, or submit online a completed claim form by February 19, 2015. If you do not wish to participate in the settlement, you may exclude yourself from the Class by February 19, 2015, or you may stay in the Class and object to the settlement by February 19, 2015. Visit www.WELLESSEJMGSETTLEMENT.com for important information about these options. HEARING ON THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT: The Court will hold a Final Approval Hearing on March 19, 2015 at 11:00 a.m., to determine whether the proposed settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate, to approve attorneys' fees and expenses, and any service award for the Class Representatives. The Final Approval Hearing will take place at U.S. District Court, Southern District of California, 940 Front Street, San Diego, CA 92101. You do not have to attend the hearing. HOW CAN I GET MORE INFORMATION? For more information or to view all relevant documents in the litigation, or if you have questions, visit www.WELLESSEJMGSETTLEMENT.com, or call 1-877-902-6937.

MOM TO MANY "These kids feel so alone," says Sandigo (at home in Miami, hosting one of her biweekly fiestas for families). "I know what that feels like. I want to show them they can still have a beautiful life."

Guardian Angel to 817 Immigrant Orphans

FOR CHILDREN AT RISK, NORA SANDIGO IS A LEGAL PROTECTOR AND SECOND MOM By CAITLIN KEATING

Photographs by JEFFERY SALTER

A PROMISE KEPT

"We wake up, have breakfast, go to school, come home," says Cecia Soza, who, with brother Ronald (above, with Sandigo), came to Sandigo after their mother was taken to a detention center. "[Nora's daughters] are like my sisters. She does everything for us like a parent would. I am so grateful that she has taken us in."

In 1979 Nora Sandigo was a carefree 14-year-old with complete confidence and limitless dreams. Living with her prosperous farmer parents and six siblings in Comalapa, Nicaragua, she ate the vegetables that grew on their land, excelled at school and wanted to become a lawyer. "The town was my family," she recalls. "We ate together, played together, grew up together. It was a beautiful life. Like a dream."

That life was destroyed overnight in the bloody Nicaraguan Revolution. "When they came to our town, those were the worst days of my life," Sandigo, 49, says. "They started killing everyone. My father told me, 'I want to be close to you, but you're my little girl and I want you to be safe. You need to go.'" Securing scattered havens for their children, Sandigo's parents ultimately sent her to live with her older sister in Venezuela. At the airport she clutched her pink childhood blanket. "My father and mother and brothers and sisters, everyone was crying," she says. "I was in the window seat of the airplane, and I didn't stop crying until I landed. I was a child. I was very scared. I was alone."

More than three decades later, Sandigo has never forgotten that feeling. Now, as the U.S. grapples with a wave of "immigration orphans"—children born in this country whose illegal-immigrant parents have been deported or face the threat of deportation—the girl who once lost everything has become a crusader for kids suddenly on their own. In a family upended by the removal of the sole breadwinner or caregiver, immigration orphans would face a dire choice—go into foster care or leave the country unless they have a legal guardian. That's where Sandigo steps in. Since 2009 she has signed on as the guardian for some 817 immigration orphans, ranging from infants to teens, in 14 states. Under U.S. law, having such a legal guardian allows the children to stay elsewhere in the country with relatives or friends even if those hosts are here illegally. Working through her American Fraternity (americanfraternity.org) charity, Sandigo helps stranded children find homes, raises money for clothing and school supplies, helps with homework and drives kids to doctor appointments. To the youngsters she calls "my children," the emotional, hug-dispensing Sandigo also provides unconditional love and the promise of a future. "I want to make a difference in their lives," she says with tears in her eyes. "What I am doing now is what others did for me."

"Seeing kids smile makes me smile," says Sandigo. "They don't know how stressful their lives are. Their parents know their kids should stay in America because they are citizens and will get a great education. But it won't be a truly happy home unless they are with their parents."

After a few years in Venezuela, Sandigo moved to Miami and was granted political asylum. At only 22, she started her own charity to help refugee families, even as she worked full-time and eventually married, had kids, divorced and remarried. She found her current focus in 2009 when, one day, there was a knock at her door: On her stoop stood the frightened children of a Nicaraguan mother who was being deported. The children begged for help, and Sandigo reacted instinctively. "You will never be alone," she promised them.

Today those children—Cecia Soza, now 18, and her brother Ronald, 15—live with Sandigo and her husband, Reymundo, as well as with Sandigo's daughters Athena, 17, and Jerryana, 15, plus Sandigo's mother, Gertrudis, 87. Cecia, now a college freshman, says Sandigo "is like a second mom to me." She and the rest of the family pitch in to help Sandigo on her daily rounds, when she drives a minivan to check up on as many of her "kids" as she can get to on a given day. On a recent afternoon, Sandigo showed up at the home of Elena, a 14-year-old high school freshman, and surprised her with a much-needed computer. In an increasingly common situation, almost three years ago, Elena's Guatemalan father was deported; her mother, here illegally, is now afraid to leave the house. Sandigo, Elena explains, "gets us food. She helps with school uniforms. When I'm crying and I miss my dad, she holds me and calms me down. She helps me stay hopeful."

Sandigo is now the guardian angel she wished for when she was 14 years old. Rising at 5 a.m., "I've slept well, and I know the day will be busy as usual," she says. "I work with my heart. I love every single one of these kids as if they're my own. And to have this big family, it's a blessing." ●

> 'I think of all of my children every second of the day and even in my dreams'
> —NORA SANDIGO

CALLING FOR CHANGE
Sandigo makes regular trips to Washington, D.C.—often with her kids—to lobby lawmakers to pass immigration reform. "Nora is a shining star," says Florida congresswoman Ileana Ros-Lehtinen, who has known her for 25 years. "She has found her niche in life, and she inspires others to get involved."

TO EVERYONE WHO HAS MADE SEROVITAL® THE FASTEST-SELLING "ANTI-AGING" BREAKTHROUGH IN AMERICA... THANK YOU!

SeroVital-hgh
[682% Mean Increase in HGH Levels]
SATISFACTION 100% GUARANTEED

> "There's no denying that something that has a chance of reducing wrinkles, tightening saggy skin, decreasing body fat, increasing lean muscle mass, strengthening bones, and boosting mood, while giving you plenty of energy and improving sex drive, is... at the very least... irresistible."

When the famed Dr. Oz asked his audience, "How many of you want to start feeling 20 years younger right now?" and, after referencing the SeroVital®-hgh clinical trial, added, "I have been searching for this from the day we started the show. I've been looking for ways of increasing hGH naturally because I don't like getting the injections," the sales of SeroVital (the patented hGH-boosting oral supplement) skyrocketed.

The belief that injections of Human Growth Hormone (hGH) may help reduce body fat, increase lean muscle mass, boost mood, heighten sex drive, get rid of wrinkles, tighten saggy skin and provide plenty of youthful energy has been, for the most part, an "underground" Hollywood thing. Even Shape magazine noted: "When you see a 50-year-old actress who can pass for 35, you can bet that good genes aren't the only things responsible for her youthful glow."

However, as attractive as hGH therapy became, the high cost of injections (about $15,000 a year) limited the benefits of hGH therapy to the very rich and famous.

Since Dr. Oz introduced the results of the groundbreaking SeroVital study (which was presented at the prestigious Obesity Society's international scientific meeting held in San Antonio, Texas), SeroVital was exhibited at The Academy of Women's Health's 21st Annual Congress in Washington, DC and The 9th World Congress of Cosmetic Dermatology held in Athens, Greece. Even the United States Patent Office has added to the SeroVital mystique by issuing not one but seven U.S. Patents to protect the SeroVital formula from imitators.* With all the extraordinary worldwide publicity surrounding SeroVital, it has become the fastest-selling, most talked about "anti-aging" compound in America.

To all of you who have used SeroVital and contributed to its overwhelming success by generously spreading the word, we at SanMedica International™ sincerely thank you. To those of you who wish to learn more about this amazing, patented formula and get all the details please visit SeroVital.com or call 1-800-559-1293.

SeroVital is currently available at all Ulta stores, Kohl's, select GNC locations, or directly from SanMedica International at SeroVital.com or by calling 1-800-559-1293 (use promo code THANKYOU53 and shipping is free†). SeroVital will soon be available at prestige retailers nationwide. A full 30-day supply costs about $100 USD.

Growth Hormone:
The Long-Awaited "Fountain of Youth"?

Everybody's talking about human growth hormone (hGH). It's been featured on The Doctors, The Today Show, Good Morning America, Fox News, and CNN. Allure magazine, in its "Anti-aging Special" issue, highlighted growth hormone as its year-end call-out. Shape magazine began a recent growth hormone article with the provocative lead in: "When you see a 50-year-old actress who can pass for 35, you can bet that good genes aren't the only things responsible for her youthful glow." But when the famed Dr. Oz himself told his audience about an oral compound that's been proven to increase mean, serum (blood) growth hormone levels by 682% and said, "I have been searching for this from the day we started the show. I've been looking for ways of increasing hGH naturally because I don't like getting the injections..." OMG! Almost immediately, this underground "miracle pill" became a full-blown "anti-aging" phenomenon.

DIETARY SUPPLEMENT

The compound is being sold under the trade name SeroVital®-hgh, and it's quickly gaining an almost "cult-like" following because, let's face it… something that may have the power to reduce wrinkles, tighten saggy skin, decrease body fat, increase lean muscle mass, boost energy, rev up sex drive, and make you look and feel decades — not years, but DECADES — younger is, at the very least, irresistible... especially when it's protected by not one but seven U.S. Patents.[‡] But is there a catch? Find out all the details at SeroVital.com. Can't wait to try it yourself? It's currently available at all Ulta stores, Kohl's, select GNC locations and direct from the manufacturer at 1-800-655-7801 or SeroVital.com. Use promo code HGH286 and get free shipping.[†]

3 The Acid-Free Micro Peel!

Unlike harsh, acid-based facial peels that can literally strip your skin of its protective layer, the once-a-week, 3-Step Micro-Peel Resurfacing Kit from DermaFactor® is a breakthrough Acid-Free Enzyme-Active Micro Peel that will revolutionize the way you care for your skin. The kit includes ❶ The Ultra Nourishing Facial Mask, which goes on first to moisturize, cool, soothe and gently prep the skin ❷ The Acid-Free Enzyme-Active Micro Peel, a revolutionary new formula containing proteolytic enzymes, which gently break down the proteins that hold dead skin cells together to fully exfoliate your skin... without harsh acids of any kind ❸ The Finishing Skin Shield, which seals the skin as a defense against environmental stressors and contains a purified fraction of natural oat polyoses to nurture the skin and help smooth away the look of wrinkles.

So throw out those harsh facial peels of the past and let DermaFactor's Acid-Free Enzyme-Active Micro Peel Resurfacing Kit nourish, exfoliate, smooth and tighten your skin as it reduces the appearance of your wrinkles and makes you look and feel absolutely amazing. Each kit contains four once-a-week complete treatments. $79 at www.TryDermaFactor.com or call 1-800-492-3462. Use promo code PEEL36 for free shipping.†

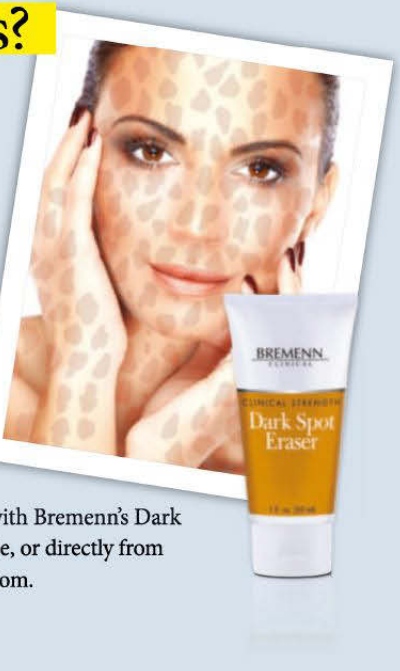
4 Is stress making you look older?

As if we didn't already know that stress makes you feel old, researchers have finally tied stress (even everyday, "ordinary" stress) to the rate at which our skin ages (it has to do with something called "accelerated telomere" [pronounced TEL-oh-mere] shortening… learn more at CarterReed.com). The best way to slow down stress-related skin aging? Relacore® Extra. For those of you unfamiliar with it, Relacore Extra is a super popular anti-stress, feel-good pill most well known for its ability to reduce stress-related "belly bulge" (that's why it's called "America's #1 selling belly fat pill" AND the reason why the best place to find it is in the weight-control section of your local Walmart, RiteAid and Target store). Nevertheless, as more and more beauty editors are touting Relacore Extra as the new skin-care "must-have," Relacore Extra is being "reborn" as an anti-aging staple (oh, and the reduction in stress-related belly fat is a bonus!). About $29 USD (extremely affordable) at smarter retailers nationwide, direct from Carter-Reed at 1-800-559-1282 or online at www.Relacore.com. Use promo code RELACORE61 and get free shipping.†

5 Serious Dark Spots?

[don't try to hide them]

FIX THEM!



Nothing screams your "real" age louder than those telltale age spots. Bremenn Clinical (a company that's spent years researching pigment-correcting formulations like the world famous "Serious Dark Circles" cream, Hylexin®) has the solution. It's called, what else, Bremenn Clinical's Dark Spot Eraser.™ Dark Spot Eraser contains a powerful combination of super-effective skin lighteners and pigmentation modifiers that not only helps reduce the appearance of existing dark spots, but also addresses the appearance of future spot emergence, making it the ultimate solution for even the most serious dark spots. So don't try to hide those serious dark spots... fix them with Bremenn's Dark Spot Eraser. Available at Kohl's and smarter retailers nationwide, or directly from Bremenn Clinical at 1-800-704-6514 or www.BremennClinical.com. Use promo code DARKSPOT73 and get free shipping.†

Spotlight on GABRIELLE UNION

SHE PAINTS HER NAILS WHILE WATCHING SCANDAL. WHAT'S NOT TO LOVE?

Gabrielle Union appreciates a good manicure. Teased for having chipped nails in her Instagram reveal of her engagement ring from the Miami Heat's Dwyane Wade (whom she married in August), Union tried out the SensatioNail gel-starter kit and was hooked. "It was so easy, and it really is salon-quality. The key is taking your time." Now an ambassador for the brand, the actress loves to pamper herself when she's not busy working on her hit BET drama Being Mary Jane. "I do my nails while watching Scandal with a glass of wine. My go-to color is Midnight Rendezvous [right]. It's a shiny black that makes you feel a bit like a rock star." At 42, Union also likes to make a statement with her hair, albeit not always a permanent one. "If you see me with a new style or color, it's not a brave act, it's a weave! They allow your hair to be an accessory so you don't have to make a major commitment." The actress is more loyal to fragrances such as Lumière Noire (which is Wade's favorite), a leave-in hair conditioner by It's a 10, candles by Voluspa and products by Neutrogena, for which she's also a spokeswoman. "I'm obsessed with my pink grapefruit cleanser. I'm not a tween, but I like the smell, and it really gets my makeup off." And the secret to her incredibly youthful appearance? Union swears by drinking a gallon of water a day ("It's the best thing for your hair, your skin and your nails") and meditating each morning. "It allows me to get some perspective and approach the day with gratitude."

"If I ever end up bankrupt, it'll be because of massages. I get a two-hour deep-tissue at least once a week," Union admits.

"Most of the characters I've played wear clear or nude nail polish because they're more conservative, but in my downtime I like to channel my inner Rihanna with shiny black." SensatioNail Starter Kit, $59.99. Additional gel colors are $11.99 each, at drugstores.

LAWRENCE SCHILLER

BARBRA STREISAND

The Way She Was

RARE PHOTOS COLLECTED IN A LAVISH NEW BOOK GIVE A BEHIND-THE-SCENES PEEK AT A SUPERSTAR'S RISE TO FAME

When photojournalist Lawrence Schiller met Barbra Streisand on the set of On a Clear Day You Can See Forever in 1968, he felt like a new hire greeting the company CEO. "I didn't know if she liked me or not," he says, "but at the end of the week, I wasn't fired." Schiller and his colleague Steve Schapiro were hired by movie studio execs to shoot the star during the first decade of her movie career, capturing moments big and small for use in magazines around the world. Now they have collected their photos, many of which have never been published, in the limited-edition book Barbra: Streisand's Early Years in Hollywood: 1968–1976. What does their muse think? "It is a very big book, and I haven't had time to look at every page," Streisand says. "But the artful photographs bring back some great memories."

A Star Is Born

"It's very beautiful," Streisand (right, in 1969) says of the book (which—priced at $750—is meant for die-hard fans).

Private Performance

It was Streisand's idea to sing to her son Jason during this 1967 shoot in Beverly Hills. "You just see all of this feeling for her son. She's always had a strong relationship with Jason," says Schapiro. "You felt this real warmth from her. It was a very, very sweet family day."

Cozy Costars

"I didn't ask them to pose that way, it just happened," says Schapiro of photographing Streisand and Robert Redford on the set of 1973's The Way We Were. "I've worked on films where you've sensed that there's no connection between the two leads. But Barbra and Robert had chemistry."

A Global Sensation

"Barbra really got along well with the Maasai," says Schapiro, who traveled with her to Kenya to shoot 1972's Up the Sandbox. "She tended to wear a lot of clothes that she got from the women in the tribe. She felt a real sense of camaraderie with them."

Air Barbra
Flying with Barbra, "there was no hierarchy—everybody was together," says Schiller, who shot her with her dog Sadie in 1969. "You could just sit down across from her and take her picture. It wasn't like today where you have handlers and PR people."

> 'SHE WAS ALWAYS WORRIED ABOUT WHAT SHE LOOKED LIKE. BUT YOU'D NEVER KNOW FROM THE PICTURES'
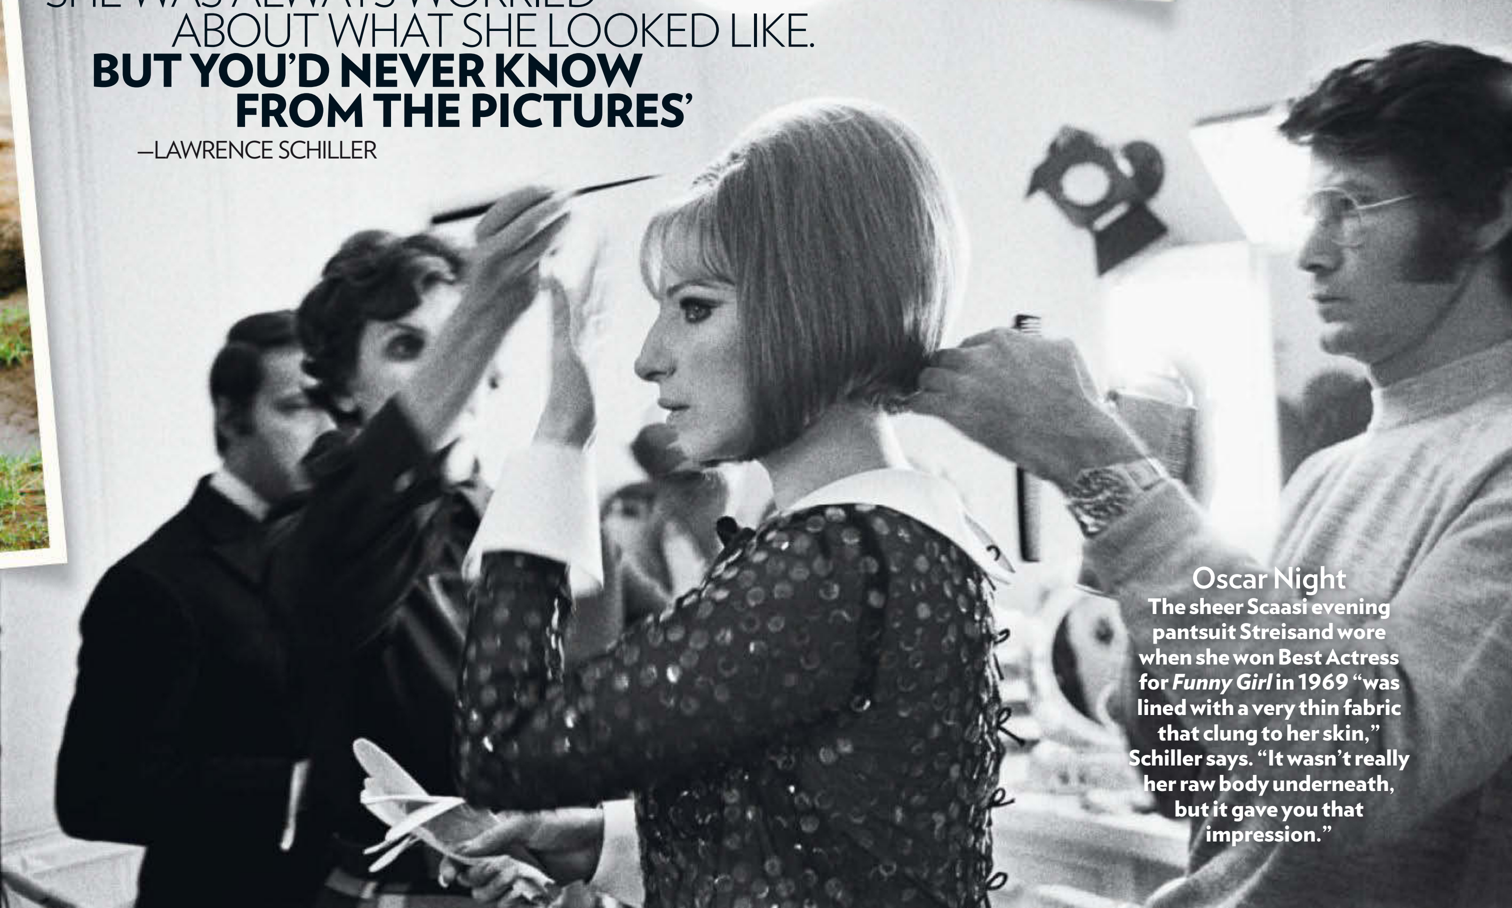
> —LAWRENCE SCHILLER



Oscar Night
The sheer Scaasi evening pantsuit Streisand wore when she won Best Actress for Funny Girl in 1969 "was lined with a very thin fabric that clung to her skin," Schiller says. "It wasn't really her raw body underneath, but it gave you that impression."

One Last Thing

BOB DAMICO/GETTY IMAGES

Leah Remini

The actress, 44, stars in the newest season of TV Land's The Exes, airing Wednesdays

Last family vacation
We took a road trip to Montana. It was a hot mess, but now we're laughing about all the mistakes. We went white-water rafting, and it was an amazing experience.

Last time I got pulled over
It happens almost weekly. One time I got pulled over twice in one week. I don't realize I'm going that fast. One guy was like, "I think I pulled you over on Monday," and I was like, "I think you did too." I tell them the truth.

Last movie that made me cry
The Fault in Our Stars. My daughter [Sofia, 10] made me watch it. She had already seen it three times. I said to her, "This kid's too good to be true." She's in love with Ansel Elgort.

Last time I was embarrassed
I went to Halloween Horror Nights at Universal Studios, and I didn't realize what a scaredy-cat I am. I had my arms around my husband [Angelo Pagan]'s waist, and I walked with him with my eyes closed. Every time I opened my eyes, something scary was there.

Last time I cursed
Probably like 10 seconds ago. I know when to curse and when not to. I can't curse in front of my daughter, because I don't want her to have the mouth that I have.
